Online Training and Assessment

CSDCI has started discussions on various forums and with several parties on viability of online training and assessment methodology in construction sector. It is agreed unanimously that there will be a blended methodology involving both - physical and digital forms of training and assessment.

In this week, CSDCI witnessed many such digital products aiming to address the challenges posed by the current pandemic. They presented different modules such as remote proctoring, live training etc.

Though the issue is very well understood by all that the implementation of such tools will be an issue looking at the target group largely being migrants, less educated and disadvantaged in nature. Moreover, the models of training & assessments pose a different challenge i.e. school skill assessments are fairly different from RPL assessments at a construction site.

Amongst many solution providers, L&T Edutech has come forward with the promising concept to address the above-mentioned issues and challenges. CSDCI will be posting in the upcoming newsletters regarding the developmental updates pertaining to Online Training & assessments in Construction sector.

WEBINAR with Training Partners

CSDCI has conducted its second Webinar on 21st May 2020 on the topic “Training Challenges in Construction Sector Post Covid-19” with 86 participants comprising of Training Partners & trainers affiliated with CSDCI. Prominent TPs, Associations and Industry partners like NAC, BAI, NAREDCO, LabourNet, OP Jindal Community College, ATS Infrastructures, Rustomjee etc participated in the hour long session addressed by CEO, CSDCI. Issues and suggestions of training partners like cost reduction in TOT programs, assignment of specific SPOCs in resolution of problems, TP/ AA rankings should be released quarterly/ bi-annually, development of SOPs on Enrolment of TPs, quarterly virtual TP meet, digital invoices, information on BoCW projects etc were discussed and clarified by CEO, CSDCI.
